

JACKSON HERALD.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS.

B. F. LUSK, PUBLISHER.

Entered at the postoffice at Jackson, Mo., as second-class matter November 4, 1897.

PHONES: 146 Residence, 147 Office.

JACKSON, MO., AUGUST 29, 1901.

CONGRESSMAN VANDIVER is for David A. DeArmond for the democratic leader of the next house.

THE county court of Mississippi county has contracted for $665 worth of furniture for their new court house.

Sam Brown was sentenced to hang for the murder of George Richardson in the circuit court at Greenville last week. The case may be appealed.

Thomas Baird, of Kennet, has been appointed by Gov. Dockery as a member of the board of regents for the Southeast Missouri normal in place of F. J. Kece, who resigned.

OUR county fair and the world's fair should not absorb all our attention. Our state fair at Sedalia begins September 9, and to show our loyalty to Missouri institutions those of us who possibly can should attend this fair.

WHAT is the matter with the HERALD printing the probate docket? Why not let the Cape Democrat print the docket for the common pleas court and the HERALD the probate docket? We will assure you that our authorities never thought of this arrangement.

Hon. George T. Lee, of Van Buren, Carter county, Mo., comes out with his usual space for advertising in the Current Local. Mr. Lee appreciates printers' ink. He knows advertising pays. Men like George T. Lee arouse his competitors to action in whatever location or vocation they are found.

WE believe it will be a good idea for our county court to let the court house improvement of the Jackson court house lay on the table till next fall and then let the people say again what they want. We can make out with our old court house one more year. In fact our country friends tell us the court house is good enough and if we don't want to do business in it just turn it over to them and they will run things.

Fire broke out Friday, August 16, in the saw-mill of W. H. Groseclose & Bro., consuming the entire saw-mill and one hoop machine. Loss about $1,650. Owing to the protracted rains the day before, the fire was easy to control. About $2,500 worth of lumber and buildings of various kinds were in danger for a time. The proprietors have bought a fine lot of timber about two and a half miles southwest where they intend to erect a new outfit.

The Missouri State Fair.

This institution was established and an appropriation made for its equipment, that the farmers, stock and poultry breeders, horticulturists and representatives of other industries might have a home for an annual gathering, a place to exhibit samples of their products and inspect the product of others; and where Missourians may meet and become acquainted and may learn more of the great variety and the superiority of the state's products and of its almost unlimited possibilities.

The excellence of the live stock exhibit is already assured and will equal any aggregation of thoroughbred animals ever assembled in the Mississippi valley. The best herds of cattle in the United States are already entered. Through freights will run direct from the Minnesota state fair, bringing all the herds upon exhibition at that point to Sedalia. More than 150 head of high-class trotting, pacing and running horses will contest the speed events.

The state fair should be the pride of Missouri farmers and stock breeders, and the great
